

Located at the beautiful coastal area of East China Sea, Ruian City Furi Packaging Machinery Co., Ltd. is focused on the development and manufacture of automatic cap equipment for the industry, as well as system integration in the production line around the automatic cap process. Through more than 10 years of constant innovation and research, Furi cap machine has been developed from the initial several types to current 9 series, more than 20 types. Our main products include automatic packing equipment such as 5 gallon cap labeling machine, cap wadding machine, cap lining machine, cap closing machine, Cap assembly machine, cap machine.

Series of cap machines of Furi Packing are used widely in these industries of daily chemical, foodstuff, medicine, and stationery. We are devoting ourselves to the supply of high performance to price ratio and high automatic packing equipments for the industries of daily chemical, medicine, foodstuff, and stationery. Our company has been adopting the advanced processing technology to control the quality strictly and operate every step perfectly. We also adopt the system management of ISO9001, and manufacture according to the standards of GMP and CE.

Here at Furi, our vision is to build the leading name of automatic cap equipment of China with technology, creativity and enthusiasm. We will further develop Furi to a world-class cap equipment name through close cooperation with our international partners. While compete in the market of vehemence, our company always insists on "quantity first, customer highest" in order to conduct the aim, provide the more perfect and better service for the domestic and international customers. We will make a win-win situation for both customers and us.

Our company owns a factory in Kunshan, and has established offices in Shanghai, Tianjin, Qingdao, Dongguan plus a distributor network in other major cities throughout the country, providing thorough pre-sales and after-sales services to our customers. Our sales and service engineers and all well experienced veterans of the industry share the common motto of "customers first".